The Education Foundation of Lake County receives more than $91,000 in matching grants

Funds will support programs that give Lake County Schools students access to career and technical education.

(LEESBURG, FL) – Programs that give Lake County Schools students greater exposure to Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) careers are getting a boost from a matching grant program.

The Consortium of Florida Education Foundations (Consortium) recently awarded The Education Foundation of Lake County $91,124 in matching funds through the School District Education Foundation Matching Grant Program.

The High School High Tech (HSHT) program at East Ridge High School is one of the beneficiaries of the matching grant. HSHT is designed to motivate students with all types of disabilities to graduate from high school and pursue interests in STEM related careers such as coding or engineering.

Other Lake County Schools programs that will benefit from the funding boost include the Back-to-School Fair which gives low performing students essential supplies to help them succeed in the classroom.

Earlier this year, East Ridge High School's HSHT students won a statewide competition for developing a business plan for a new product. The HSHT program, which helps students with disabilities identify a career path, is one program that will benefit from a CFEF matching grant received by the Education Foundation of Lake County.

A new International Baccalaureate (IB) program at Tavares High School also will receive a portion of the funding. The IB program offers enrolled students the opportunity to earn up to thirty college credits.

“These grants allow Lake County Schools educators greater flexibility in incorporating innovative learning tools to meet their students’ needs,” said Diane Kornegay, Lake County Schools Superintendent. “We applaud the Education Foundation of Lake County for consistently securing resources to help our teachers and students while supporting our mission to provide relevant learning opportunities for all of our students.”

“We are fortunate and appreciative of the many donors in our community and through partner organizations that have helped toward this effort,” said Carman Cullen, Executive Director of the Education Foundation of Lake County. “We are especially grateful for the efforts of the Lake County legislative delegation which has been our voice in helping to ensure our district receives its share of the funding from the state legislature.”

The Consortium has received legislative matching funds which provide a dollar-for-dollar incentive for local education foundations to raise private contributions for eligible projects more than 20 years. Since inception of the program, more than $127 million in combined private and state dollars has been provided for local projects that serve students, literacy initiatives, encourage STEM and career/technical education, increase classroom innovation, support teachers, and/or increase graduation rates.
